

“Children are the world’s most important resource and its best hope for the future”

(John F Kennedy)

We know you are committed to keeping kids safe and you may have already gained some skills to do so.

But do you know enough?

Would you or colleagues know if any of these whispers should be cause for concern?

“I don’t like Uncle playing with my golf set”

“Can I come home with you?”

“I’m hungry, there’s no food at home....”

And what would you do, if you saw or heard of about a child being tied out on a clothes line, or being severely beaten?

Studies have shown, that with appropriate training, people are more likely to take action!

CPS training provides people working with children with the skills to:

- Understand what abuse is and why it appears
- Recognise children at risk of abuse
- Know how to respond appropriately and what to do immediately
- Act with confidence recording and reporting abuse

The respected and empowering Child Protection Studies Programme is to be held in New Plymouth on the 30th March – 3rd April 2009.
