

Safekids Leads Discussions on Child Restraints in NZ's Road Safety Strategy to 2020

A big 'thumbs up' to the Government for giving Kiwi kids the chance for booster seats in the discussion document for the new road safety strategy to 2020, Safer Journeys.

We now have an opportunity to bring our child car restraint law in line with international best practice, and simply need to tell the Government that we want more up-to-date child car seat rules that will save children's lives.

Agreeing that we need change will be the first step. We know that there is more work to identify what rules will best suit the unique conditions within New Zealand. We also know good education is required to get the best results, and making child car seats easily available is also very important.
